

National Technical Advisor

Are you an excellent communicator, can prioritise and think quickly to solve problems?

Are you analytical, diplomatic and can cope under pressure?

Maybe you are an outstanding automotive technician, ready to take the next step in your career...

This is the role for you!

FUSO New Zealand Ltd was appointed the distributor of FUSO trucks, buses and parts throughout New Zealand in 2016. We have relaunched the brand with a focus on Delivering Better - better value; better service and support; a better customer experience overall.

Due to the increase in FUSO product on the road we are now looking for our own "super skilled technician". You will be responsible in actively pushing for optimum customer satisfaction in the dealer network with product and customer issue resolution, which will see you traveling throughout New Zealand to address technical issues.

You will communicate with dealers on product and technical challenges, stay abreast of all new models entering the market, attend product and media launches, and sales training to provide technical support as required.

Fuso product knowledge and mechanical aptitude is required, as well as experience in the heavy automotive industry and after sales processes. You will need to display a high level of current automotive technical skills and hold a Class 4 Licence. A tertiary qualification in automotive engineering is preferred.

This is an exciting time to join the Fuso team as we work towards having the first electric trucks in New Zealand. If you are passionate and ready to become an expert in all things Fuso, then we'd love to hear from you!
